FORGOTTEN.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY EARLE REMINGTON.

He took the harp that I gave to him. All strung with my own heart's strings, He held it up to appraise its worth, As a broker does golden things

It must have been a goodly sight, For he smiled with the smile I knew. And he struck a chord that lingered long, With a touch so strong and true.

He played one tune on the priceless harp And, oh, it was sweet to hear ! But at every touch my heart strings bled, For each note there fell a tear.

When the song was done the harp he threw, Like a cast off glove, away. Now the harp lies dead, never tune was played On my heart strings since that day.

WON-BY ANOTHER'S KISS

ADAPTED FROM THE FRENCH OF VAUTHIER, BY HENRY L. WILLIAMS.

Mile. Avette had been twenty years acquiring the esteem of the Parisian theatre goers, but then she went on the stage-in a basket-at the age of

She had made her hit now-authors, manager critics and the public were sure that the comic opera would run three hundred nights because of her excellent assumption of "the Youth of the Century.'

It was in this character that the Prince of Maligne "commanded" her portrait for the gov-ernment, averring that in days to come it would be, for Netvarne was sure to make a masterpiece worthy of history as a picture of Dejazet as "Richelieu."

Avette, in the "swellest" possible suit from the leading London tailor's, perfectly equipped for an evening party, from varnished boot to parted wig. thing of a double watch chain hung just right, and the single eyeglass, posed for the cele brated portraitist.

Netvarne was still young—not thirty, though he had the medal and his works were never judged by the jury. But he irritated this young woman, whom a week had overwhelmed with triumphs. by the long stlences during which he conscien cously plied the brush.

Several times she had hemmed, and coughed and fidgeted, but it was not till he had labored long that he suddenly drew back from the easel as though satisfied, and, glancing at her as if roused from a dream, asked:

"What did you say ?"

Surprised at this absent mindedness, Avette was nded for a space; but, recovering and saying the first thing coming into her head, he was now surprised.

"When are you going to end your bachelor

"I? Why, I am wedded to art !" But everybody says that you are at the top of the ladder—high time for you to let a lady help you down into domestic bliss."

"What an idea! I permit you to laugh at me when you hear of my dividing off my studio to set up my wife's cook stove in the other half!"

"That's all very fine, but I believe you have somebody in your eye now."

"I? I should laugh—as I would not at burying my talent, such as it is, in a chimney corner ove against a Joan! But that is all for the day; you can step off your throne and leave when you like.

have an appointment —"

"With the future?" said Avette mirthfully, as jumped, in character with her boy's dress, with her feet together, off the platform.

Netvarne glanced around at the roguish girl as he prepared to go out, and said in a playful tone, on seeing her do a few steps of a skipping rope dance:
"If you knock anything over, or rig up my lay figure to be the scandal of the neighbors, lolling

t of window. I will never finish your portrait! They say I am in reality the finished young gentleman of the age already! but do not wrong me by thinking I am not original—I never play the same trick twice!" On being left alone she brooded on the divan in stead of changing her costume.

"How he slights me!" she muttered. "I wonder if my jest was not well aimed? Is he running to eep some love tryst? Why not? He is good looking enough, winning in talk-when he does oblige, and he coins a mint of money!"

she ran to the window. Though it looked upon the rear gardens, it also commanded a side view of the street, where a row of hacks were waiting But, though Netvarne took one, it was without the impatience of a lover, and Avette sighed at such

She yawned as she looked on the set oblongs of grass and shrubs, with mathematically straight paths; here and there plaster statues on white painted wood pedestals; colored glass balls dang-ling from boughs, and toy flags stuck to peaks of pavilions for taking tea in.

All at once, in one garden, she perceived a very fair young lady; she had a fashion paper in hand, and with the other was ticking off what pleased her fancy with a colored crayon.

Chancing to raise her eyes, she stopped, stupefied to see what was apparently a young gentleman in exquisite evening attire at three P. M. Whereupon, with the devil may care disposition of one having a good three years' engagement, Avette, delighted to ave caught the beauty's attention, and proud, too winked so hard as to drop the monocle of plain glass through which she was quizzing her, and de berately blew her a double kiss with that manner rarely seen out of the ring or off the stage.

With the shocked modesty of the convent bred, the lady dropped her eyes, the chalk and the paper, and hurriedly fied up the walk into the house.

"Laws! are there such fluttered doves in these days!" sneered Avette. "Our walking lady has been ten years on, without being able to do that start and flight so naturally! I suppose, though, that she has only run into her room to get her opera glass and stare at me from behind the blinds Look, my pet, and admire! This time it shall not

When Netvarne returned home he entered his tudio with some misgiving; Mile. Avette took liberties which long acquaintance was not on her side to justify, and he had often found the never orderly apartment converted into a "hurrah's nest.

"She is only a great girl, after all-a hoyden," he said, as he perceived on lighting up that nothing but the big doll was out of place. "Yes, a great tomboy," he added, as he looked at the portrait.
"This is like. I am sorry the prince is to have it, and the State. That woman would bring perpetual Gone is your face, with its powder and patches. Lost in a cloudlet of silver lined gloom.

Back thro' the long years my memory catches The scent of sweet violet and cowslip in bloom Just for a moment the vision comes Just for a second I see you again, Faded the footlights and faces before me, I wait at the corner of Daffodil Lane.

Tis gone-the dream's past, and the vision is over-I wake 'neath a tempest of laughter and cheers, As daintily Peggy coquets with her lover, And loves him, and leaves him in anger and tears.

But I-I've grown critical here in the stalls, Gaze on your acting with something like pain.
In spite of your glamour there's something that palls— You played the part better in Daffodii Lane.

Laugh on, and forget. All the world is your lover! , So petted and feted, adored by the town I bid you adien—for the play is all over. Good night, Mistress Peggy, the curtain is down

Good night, Mistress Peggy! believe me, if ever A thought of me crosses your pathway again, In good sooth, and indeed I have managed to sever My heart from that dream down in Daffodii Lane

HI. HENRY.

It may be said of Mr. Henry that he exemplifies a fortunate combination of artistic and managerial ability, for while widely known, and having many admirers as a cornet virtuoso, he is no less popular as one of the successful minstrel managers of the day. Hi. Henry (Hiram Henry) is from the Patrick Henry stock of Virginia. He was born in Buffalo N. Y., Aug. 22, 1844, and is therefore forty-nine years of age. From youth he has been a careful student of music, becoming proficient in rendition, composition and arrangement. Later, he studied medicine, but at the age of twenty-two adopted the stage, devoting the first eight years of his stage ex-perience to acting and dramatic management. In 1873 Mr. Henry became proprietor and manager of the Brooklyn Park Theatre Co., having purchased J. W. Carroll's interest. Mr. Henry managed the mpany through two years of remarkable pros perity, closing about the time of the occurrence of the great Black Friday panic, a time when the for tunale attractions were those not running, Mr. Henry became identified with minstrelsy in 1875, as solo cornettist and bandmaster with Harry Robinson, "the man with the silver horns," during which he won recognition and popularity as one of the foremost soloists of the day. In 1879 Mr. Henry organized his famous Premium Minstreis, with which he has ever since been identified, except during the season of 1889-90, when he organized the Estelle Clayton attraction, which he continued forty-five consecutive weeks until he became president of the Enterprise Show Printing Co., of Cleveland, O., since which time his services have been divided between his printing company and his minstrel attraction. Last Summer, while alone in the private office of this printing company, Mr. Henry was subjected to a shock, during a thunder from a belt of lightning running in on an electric power cable, already charged with volts of electricity. Seven months elapsed before Mr. Henry was pronounced out of danger, and at one time his condition became so critical cause not only grave doubts of his covery, but rumors of his death. Mr. Henry is however, alive and rapidly recovering, and next August will find him again in the field, with one the strongest minstrei attractions he has ever organized. ....

About nine in the morning he was putting th colors on his palette, when he heard a step at his door. It could not be the actress so early, but he appeared less to care than ever. It was a gentle man who wished to speak with him.

Mile. Avette called; she glanced at the stranger, nodded to the artist, and hurried into the dressing room.

"I can only give you an hour this morning," she explained; "one of our ladies has fallen ill and we have a rehearsal to assist her understudy!" Netvarne hardly heeded her; the nervousness of

HOW WE TALK.

Some interesting statistics have been compiled by a Frenchman respecting the different languages spoken in various parts of the world. He states that the language in which Shakespeare and Milton wrote was then that of less than six million human eings. Freuch was the mother tongue of at least thirty million people at a time when English was spoken by less than sixteen million, and fifty mil-lion of French speaking people were living when the Revolution broke out in 1848.

Between forty and fifty years the English lan-guage equaled the German in the number of those who spoke it, and now the latter is left far behind. German is now spoken by ten mi the Austro-Hungarian empire, by forty-six million in the German empire, by four million in Belgium, and by two million in Switzerland. German is also spoken by about two million persons in the United States and Canada, giving a total of about sixty millions who use the German language.

French is spoken by the thirty-eight million in habitants of France, by two million five hundred thousand people in Belgium, by two hundred thousand in Alsace-Lorraine, by six hundred thousand in Switzerland, by one million five hundred thou-sand in the United States and Canada, by six hundred thousand in Hayti, and by one million five hundred thousand in Algiers, India, the West Indies and Africa, in all about forty-five millions

English is spoken by thirty-seven million persons in the British Isles, by probably fifty-seven million of the sixty million inhabitants of the United States, by four million persons in Australia, by three million seven hundred thousand West Indians, and by one million in India and other British clonies, bringing the total of the English speaking

NOTES FROM THE FRED LOCKE SHOW .- We have ust entered our seventh week of phenomenal business. We opened our season at Jamestown, O., on April 22, when we played to the capacity of the on April 22, when we played to the capacity of the canvas both afternoon and evening. A pleasant surprise was prepared for Mr. Locke by the K. of P. of Jamestown previous to the opening. After the regular meeting of the lodge the doors of the banquet hall were thrown open, where invited guests to the number of one hundred and fifty had assembled in honor of Mr. Locke. After an elaborate repast, a festure of which was a mammot cake two feet in diameter, on which were the words "Fred Locke's Monster Shows," speeches, dancing, etc., were indulged in. On the evening of the opening, as Mr. Locke stepped into the ring with the trained slock he was presented with an elegant ring whip from the K. of P. lodge of Jamestown. Mr. Locke, who is never at a loss to find words to express himself, responded in an appropriate speech, assuring his friends that he would never cease to remember with pleasure the friends he had made in that city. It might not be out of piace to mention the fact that in Mr. Locke's Co. are eight K. of P., two Odd Fellows and one Mason. We have had some wet weather, but during it all have missed but two matinees, and have not as yet had a light house. The complete roster of our company is as follows: Fred Locke, proprieter and manager: O. S. Locke, treasurer; Doc Pilley, assistant manager: D. H. # WORD SO PLAYERS

 Allegheny's newest playhouse is to be erected upon the site now occupied by the World's Museum, upon the site now occupied by the World's Museum, in the City of Allegheny, Pa. The theatre will have a seating capacity of 2,500, and will be situated on Federal Street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, just across the Sixth Street bridge, connecting the cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny. The front will face on Federal Street and will be three stories high. The lobby floor will be of mosaic tile, the sides of marble and mirrors, and the ceiling of stucco relief work, the whole being lighted by different colored electric lights. From the lobby you enter a garden beautifully decorated with many flower beds and tropical plants, an artificial lake and a miniature representation of the graden will be the ladies' parlors and retiring rooms, elegantly and tastefully furnished with all modern improvements, and in charge of a competent matron, whose sole duly it will be to look after the comfort and convenience of the lady patrons of the theatre. To the left of the garden will be located the gentlemen's parlor, smoking and retiring rooms, furnished in first class order and in charge of a competent porter. In one corner of the garden, encased behind a glass partition, will be the electric light plant for lighting the heatre and the machinery for heating the house in Winter and cooling it in Summer. There will also be a candy and refreshment stand, check room, opera glass booths and many other conveniences distributed throughout the house. From the garden one passes directly into the theatre proper, which will be as pretty and comfortable and convenient as art and money can make it. A new departure, and something no other theatre in Western Pennsylvania has to offer its patrons, will be the use of large, roomy, finely upholstered divans with a capacity for two persons. The chairs will be large and the latest improved styles. The upholstering will be into colors, blue and old gold, and the decorations will match. The stage will be fully equipped with all the latest devices, looking to putting on plays in proper for in the City of Allegheny, Pa. — In a recent newspaper interview, H. R. Jacobs expressed some practical opinions concerning the damaging effects of railroad extortion upon the Columbian Exposition. He claims that the conclusion of the Board of Railway Presidents that the people will be obliged to pay whatever rate of fare they may choose to fix, because there is no other way to get to Chicago than by their lines, is illogical for the reason that it does not contemplate the alternative of staying at home, a privilege which the people are using without stint. Before the close of the Exposition a reduction in rates will be imperative, and if such a movement is long delayed the railroad companies will, when the reduction is made, find themselves unable to handle the traflic, even with their new equipment of rolling stock. It would be far better to reduce fares at once at least fifty per cent, from regular rates, and trust to the large increase of travel for augmented receipts. In the interests of actors and managers in 'Chicago, as well as for the sake of the Exposition, it is to be hoped that the reduction may speedily be made.

— Messrs. Choudeur & Co., the Paris music publishers, have obtained for T. H. French the American rights of Audran's latest operetta, "La Princesse Blonde," which will have its first production at the Paris Chatelet early next November. The leading soprano role of the piece is said to be an uncommonly good one, and Lillian Russell will create it in this country.

- Reno & Ford's "Joshua Simpkins" Co. closed their season at Grafton, W. Va., May 27, to a packed house. The past season of the company, like the previous one, has shown a succession of good houses, and many requests for return dates have been made. Some managers are adverse to booking "band" shows, but Reno & Ford have proven during the past two seasons that a band attraction can give a first class stage performance. Many are under the impression that with a band show all the characters are played by the members of the band, but such is not the case with Reno & Ford's Co., which carries an orchestra of ten to twelve pieces, which makes an excellent band in itself, the musicians taking only small paris in the play. Reno & Ford open their next season early in August, and the route is nearly completed. At the closing of the tour the entire company traveled together as far as Clarksburg Junction, where the members departed to their several homes, as follow; C. L. Jackson and his canine mascot, to Franklin, Ind.; Chas. Hyde, Troy, O.; D. E. The company will comprise a large number of the leading lights of the Afro-American profession, including thirty Creole beauties, twenty comedians, headed by Ben Hunn, and twenty-five of the best buck and wing dancers that can be secured. The company will travel in their own special hotel palace car. The scenery is said to be fine and includes a mooulight scene on the levee and an original and realistic plantation cotton picking scene showing a real cotton field as it was in slavery days, with the darkies in the field singing and picking the cotton. The paper is all new and special lithograph work, with an assortment second to no traveling organization. No time or expense has been spared to make this production true to life in every detail, and it should prove one of the novelties of the season. The management look upon it as a sure winner.

— Lincoin J. Carter has just scored another triumph in the realistic drama. At Havlin's Theatre, Chicago, on May 28, he produced his new scenic melodrama, entitled "The Tornado," and, judging from all accounts, its name was apily descriptive of its reception. The play made a great success, and the audience compelled the author to make a speech at the end of the tornado scene, which is said to be a marvelous exposition of stage illusion. # VARIETY and MINSTRELSY

THE AL. H. FIELDS' ALL STAR SPECIALTY Co. are out again for the Summer on their annual tour through Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. The roster this year is stronger than ever, and includes Harrey and Fields, Heywood and Brunnell. Wood and Mack, Shepard Sisters, Viola Hawkins and De Witt, magician, concluding with the laughable afterpiece, "Dutch Justice." The company will rest only one week during the entire Summer, and that will be to visit the World's Fair late in July. They are out but two weeks, and report prosperous business. Mr. Fields joined them after spending a week at Mt. Clemens, Mich. In all probabilities they will be one of the important factors among the vandeville companies this Fall.

LITTLE ROSIE WRIGHT was presented with a handsome gold ring by Sarah Doole and Maud Wood at the Standard Theatre, Toledo, O., last week.

BEATTLE AND BESTLEY write from Naples, Italy, under date of May 12, that their engagement with the London Galety Co., at Sydney, Aus., was very profitable to all concerned. Harry Richards has leased the Garrick Theatre, Sydney, and has turned it into a music hall, at cheap prices. Dan Tracy has retired from his Galety Theatres, both at Sydney and Melbourne. Frank Clark is running a music hall at Melbourne with good success. The Cogill Bros. are on tour, having rented their theatre at Melbourne to the Steens, who, they write, are good for a long run. E. D. Davies, the old time ventriloquist, is a successful commission broker at Adelaide.

NEW YORK CITY. Last Week's Events .- The record of the past week shows an aggregate of business which must have gladdened the hearts of both managers and performers. This cheerful condition was due and performers. This cheerful condition was due partly to the excellence of the attractions, but was probably more especially the result of the unseasonably cool weather. Decoration Day also helped swell the receipts, and at two of the theatres the visits of royalty in the person of the Infanta Eulalia, assisted in repleting the treasury...... At the Garden Theatre the Bostonians produced, May 29, for the first time in this city, a new romantic comic opera, by Reginald De Koven and Harry B. Smith, entitled "The Knickerbockers." The work. Smith, entitled "The Knickerbockers," The work, apparently, made a favorable impression upon the large audience which interest in both the authors and the company had gathered to hone or the occa-sion. This impression seemed to be superficial, and will probably not be lasting. During the first act the appliance, while liberal, was evi-dently intended to reward the efforts of favorite singers, rather than as an expression of endorse-ment of the work, and, having thus greeted those whom they desired to compliment and welcome in new roles, the audience remained comparatively passive during the two following acts, thus show-ing that the interest was not cumulative. To the Rostonians credit is due for the admirable manner in which the opera was staged and sung. "Robin Hood!" will alone be given during the remainder of the season.....The Summer season at the MADISON SQUARE AMPHITHEATRE opened May 29 with a varied entertainment, which comprised negro minstrelsy, opera, vaudeville and ballet. Of these the ballet, "The Carnival of Venice," was the most satisfactory, the size of the amphitheatre rendering the efforts of many of the individual performers abortive. The project was abandoned at the close of the week, Seldl's orchestra being announced to follow.....The season in the MADISON SQUARE ROOF GARDEN began May 30, and a large and extremely uncomfortable audience attended the opening. The absolutely cold winds which swept the place made the audience shiver, and the incongruity of an Bostonians credit is due for the admirable manner the audience shiver, and the incongruity of an open air entertainment, and especially one so near cloud land, with the wind so high and the temperature so low, checked enthusiasm and dulled appreciation. The entertainment offered was similar to that of last season. There was a fairly efficient orchestra, under the leadership of Gustav D'Aquin, some very sensational dancing by Mme. Dynamite, banjo playing by Ruby Brooks, a contor tion act by Baggesen, the human corkscrew; solos, duos and trios, the entertainment being of the vaudeville sort, but presenting no novelty nor single strong attraction. With milder weather, however, the bill presented would probably be sufficiently strong were the roof garden offered as an annex to the entertainment in the amphi-theatre, as it was 'ast season; but, as it is the intention to run it during this Summer as a Intention to run it during this Summer as a distinctly separate place of amusement, the entertainment seems somewhat meagre, nor is it certain that the new departure will not meet with disfavor.....The return of that clever comedian, Thos. Q. Seabrooke, with his entertaining opera, "The Isle of Champagne," an event which occurred at the FIFTH AVENUE THEATHE May 29, resulted in an overflowing house, a condition repeated almost nightly during the week. The opera having so recently had a successful run in this city, it is quite unnecessary to speak in detail of its good qualities. Elsa Gregori, a lady whom, it is claimed, has had experience in grand opera, made her first appearance in English comic opera. Miss Gregori has a pleasing voice, with sufficient mezzo quality to make its lower register exceedingly mellow. She sings the music allotted to her in this work with generally pleasing effect. Her chief fault is lack of precision of attack. She will also have to learn to subordinate her desire to shine as a star in the musical firmament to the histrionic requirements of her role. Another member of the cast to whom the same lesson would be good qualities. Elsa Gregori, a lady whom, it is ber of the cast to whom the same lesson would be valuable is Joseph F. Sheehan, who has only re-cently adopted a stage career, and who has assigned to him the principal tenor role. He has a good voice, which will doubtless become more flexible, more resonant and more amenable to control. Samuel Collins and John H. Gilroy, who compose the army of King Pommery Sec'nd, are also new-comers who deserve favorable mention.... The Hinrichs Grand Opera Company continued its sea-son at the Grand Opera House, the works preson at the Grand Opera House, the works pre-sented during the week ending June 3 being "Faust," "Il Trovatore," "La Gloconda," and the "Bohemian Girl." On June 1 "La Gloconda," an opera in four acts by Ponchielli, was given in excellent style. The occasion goes upon record, as being the first presentation of this work in English in this city. The first production of this opera in America was in Italian at the Metropolitan Opera House, this city. Dec. 20, 1883, under the direction of Sig. in Italian at the METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE, this city, Dec. 20, 1883, under the direction of Sig. Vianesi, with the following east: La Gioconda, Mine. Christine Nilsson; La Ciega, Mine. Scalehi; Laura, Mine. Fursch-Madi; Barnaba, Signor Del Puente; Alvise Badoero, Signor Novara; Zuane, Signor Augler; Isepo, Signor Grazzi; Enzo, Signor Stagno. The opera has, however, rarely been done here. Laura nor Stagno. The opera has, however, rarely been done here, being an exacting one, severely taxing the powers and the endurance of all all the interest of a new work. The opera, which is intensely dramatic, is constructed upon the heroic mold. The story is the oft repeated one of love, rivalry, jealousy and the inevitable tragic end, death. Every one of the characters has the strongest of causes for passionate emotions which run the entire gamut of human feelings. The result is a work which possibly lacks shading, but which offers full compensation for any shortcomings in this respect by its virility and dramatic intensity. While the music is largely declamatory, it by no means lacks melody, and its ballet music is exquisitely dainty. The orchestration is superb, and, in spite of the strain which deserved attention imposes upon the auditor, there results no sense of weariness to the final fall of the curtain. The work was excellently rendered by Mr. Hinrichs' company. A cast of such even merit is rarely presented, even in the most pretentious of operatic organizations. Indi-vidual mention is unnecessary when all are alike entitled to share commendation, although it is but just to add that the work of the chorus and of the orchestra entitles them to be included in the gen eral praise. The work was received with enthusi asm by the large audience present, and there is but little doubt that the opera will hereafter be a favor-ite in this city. The cast: La Gioconda, Selma Koert-Kronold; La Cieca, Katherine Fleming; Alvise Badoero, W. H. Clarke; Laura, Lizzie Macnichol-Vetta; Enzo Grimaldo, Payne Clark; naba, Guiseppe Campanari; Zuane, Richard Kari; Isepo, Myra Munello; A Pilot, Alphonse Figuet.

......Herrmann, the magician, began a Summer season at his own theatre 29.....At CANNEGIE MUSIC HALL, 29, a vocal and instrumental concert of merit was given in honor of the infanta Eulaia, tendered by the Spanish colony of this city. Her Royal Highness also attended during the week two theatrical performances, the first visit being made

House, the works presented during the week being "Der Freischutz," "Fra Diavolo," "Einer Von Unsere Lent" and "Martha".... The continuous bills for the week ending June 3 were: "Panjandrum" at the Broadway, "Adonis" at the Casino, "The Giril Left Benind Me" at the EMPIRE, Block "189" at Parks, "A Trip to Chinadown." Variety entertainment was furnished at Tony Pastor's, Proctor's, the Inferent, London and Miner's Bowery and Eighth Avenue.... The week stands fluishing June 3 were: John P. Smith's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Profile's, "My Colleen" at the Collmers, "The Rivais" at the Hale leen" at the COLUMBUS, "The Rivals" at the HAR The Columnus, "The Rivais" at the Har-lem Opera House and "The Rambler from Clare' at Jacobs' Third Avenue, the season at all of these houses, with the exception of the Columnus, clos-ing same date..... Hebrew performances were given at the Roumania, Windson, Thalia and EIGHTH STREET THEATRES .... The directors of the Madison Square Garden Company held a meeting June 2, but owing to the absence of the president, Frank K. Sturgis, no business of public importance was transacted. No proposition has been made to lease the property for a term of years, as they had hoped, and the project of subletting the building except the Garden Theatre, will have to be abandoned. At Madison Square Garden, afternoon of June 1, a number of invited guesis were given an exhibition of the "boxing kangaroo," which was recently imported from England by Frank Charles Hostock, business manager of Wombwell's European Enterprises. The kangaroo boxed three rounds with Tom Tully, who is known as "Black Jack." Both wore large boxing gloves, and the sparring was quite spirited, the animal being very aggressive, and following bis man about the ring. The kangaroo's method of glove fighting was peculiar, the blows not being given in the regulation way, but delivered downward, as one uses a stedge hammer. Nor did its taste for highling that the universe of the foor. The Ruson which reached here from Chicago, a few days ago, that Manager J. M. Hill had announced his retirement from the theatrical business, and which appears on another page, lacks confirmation. Mr. Hill's lease of the Standard Theatre has a year yet to run, and recently he took out a new license. Then, too, he has a contract with Marle Tempest for next year and another with Katherine Germaine. On the whole, circumstances do not seen to indicate any intention on his part to retire. Chicago managers state that they have no information concerning the reported retirement.

McCPSKER VS. FINNEY.—A cablegram from London, Eng., June I, states that a match has at last been arranged between William McCusker, of Lowell, Mass., the American professional champion swimmer, and James Finney, the English crack, who have been negotiating for a year or more. The match is at one mile, for $1,000 a side, and is to take place on July 15, at Blackpool, near Liverpool. Both men are dirst class performers, and the result of the contest will be awalted with considerable interest on this side of the water. Finney will, of course, be the favorite.

The New SLOOP VALENER, with which Lord Dunraven fondly hopes to win the America Cup, won a race from Harwich around Shipwash and Sunk Lightships, Eng., on June 8, defeating the Prince of Wales' yacht, Britannis, by a minute, while the cutters Iverna and Calluns were nowhere at the finish. ### MORRIS PARK RACES.

A Grand Opening — Charade Captures the Metropolitan Handleap. The New York Jockey Club opened their Spring meeting on May 31, under the most favorable cirnumstances, and fully ten thousand people witnessed Charade run away with the Metropolitan Handicap. It was a beautiful day, and the three thousand or more ladies who occupied seats in the grand stand made it one of the most charming spots on earth. The event of the day was the race spots on earth. The event of the day was the race mentioned, which netted the owner of Charade $13,940. During this race Colonel North's lay horse Arturo, bringing up the rear, was so blinded by the dust that he ran against the fence, fell and broke his neck. Edwards, his jockey, had his left leg broken in two places. The Juvenile Stakes, for two year olds, at five furlongs, was won by Senelia with the utmost ease. The track was in excellent condition and rather fast. Summary:

The Close at Gravesend.

The Spring meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey Club was terminated in a blaze of glory May 30, at the Gravesend track. Fully twenty th were present and the manner in which they cheered when the favorites were in the lead was sufficient evidence, that they were thoroughly interested in the sport. The track was in excellent condition, although the wind was a tride too still at the finish the sport. The track was in excellent condition, although the wind was a tride too still at the finish for fast time to be made. The leading race of the day was the Fort Hamilton Handicap, which was won by Sport after a still race. In the Tremont Stakes an advantage was given in the start to Dobbins, and he kept the lead right through to the finish, even though he did only win by a head under severe punishment. Yorkville Belle was an odds on favorite at 1 to 5 in the first race and won it with the utmost ease from Poor Jonathan. Summary:

A Favorite Wins the Derby.

The greatest event on the English turf-calendar, the race for the Derby Stakes, took place at Epsom Downs on Wednesday afternoon, May 31, and it was witnessed by the customary vast and homogeneous assemblage, gathered from all parts of the country. assemblage, gathered from all parts of the country. The weather was dull and threatening, but no rain fell, and the pleasure of the people was in nowise, marred, the usual scenes of bustling and good natured holiday making being enacted en route to and at the course, where the high and the low, the rich and the poor rubbed chows in true democratic fashion. Last year the race was won by a clean outsider. Sir Hugo, with odds of 50 to Lagainst him, but last Wednesday the favorite, Isinglass, on whom the betting at the start was 9 to 4, proved the victor, so that there was general rejoicing instead of the army of gium looking race goers seen after Sir Hugo's victory. The conditions of the great classic event are as follow:

The day lead of Peppercorn. Time 2.23.

The day fell to a good start. Son of a Giun went away in the lead, but Lord William soon dashed to the front and set the pace, followed by Royal Harry, Raeburn, William and Iriah Wike, which were running in a bunch, close up, and which were in turn followed by Son of a Giun, Peppercorn and Isinglass in the order named. Behind the last three above named ran Raewahory, with Danne Fresident last. Before reaching Sherwood's Lord William drew clear of the bunch, which had been running him closely. Here the other horses also changed by Guickly Wise. Peppercorn and Royal Harry, running on nearly equal terms, while behind them came Raeburn, Son of a Gou and Danne Fresident, with Pinglass, the favorite, and Ravensbury bringing up the rear. At the mile poot Isinglass, who had oeen given his bead, was running second. William was third and Raeburn fourth, with Irish Wake. Royal Harry, Quickly Wise and Peppercorn running in a bunch. Son of a Giun had failen back and was bringing up the rear of the procession. When the last bille p was reached Lord William as had also back and was bringing up the rear of the procession. When the last bille p was reached Lord William was in the Iront. Isinglass was running third, followed by Royal Harry, Irish Wake. Peppercorn and Son of a Giun in a bunch, while Quirkly Wise and Lord William was in the Iront. Isinglass as het also Raeburn haded William was in the Iront. Royal Harry, Pepper ful race. Lord William's saddlegirth broke and bis jeckey, Mullen, was thrown. Isinglass maintained his lead, and, coming on, wenther tace by a length and a hait. There was two lengths between Raveusbury and Raeburn. The last betting was 9 to 4 on Isinglass, 25 to 1 against Raeburn, 14 to 1 against Raeburn, 14 to 1 against Raeburn, 14 to 1 against Irish Wake, 17 to 1 against William, 20 to 1 against Hone President, 28 to 1 against Son of a Gun and 100 to 1 each against Royal Harry, Lord William, Quickly Wise and Peppercorn. The winner had previously this year carried off the Two Thousand Guineas and the Newmarket Niskes, which was the cause of his being honored with the place of favorite for the Derby.

About five thousand wheelmen and others as-sembled to witness the fifth annual twenty-five sembled to witness the fifth annual twenty-five mile road race over the two and a half mile stretch, of macadam between Miliburn and Irvffigton, N. J., on Decoration Day, May 30, under the auspices of the Metropolitan Association of 'Cycling Clubs, Everything was favorable for the event, the weather being splendid, the road in perfect condition, many fast men were among the numerous entries, and it is not surprising that the best race ever held there was had, and that the winner of the finer was had, and that the winner of the time prize, although not proving the actual winner of the race, created new figures for the course. This was Charles M. Murphy, of Brooklyn, who rode the distance in 1h. 15m. loss, thus whing on the time credited to Hoyland Smith. He was rewarded with a handsome bleyele, a diamond media and a silver cup. The race was won by Carl Von Lengerke, of the Ataianta Wheelmen, with C. H. Coffin, Roseville Athletic Club, second. At the finish of the first five miles Vaughn, Schermerhorn, Davidson, Costigan and McMahon were in the lead, The positions were greatly changed at ten miles. Von Lengerke had taken the lead, with Barnett, Davidson, McMahon and L. Schermerhorn following. At fifteen miles many riders had retired. Tho last five miles resulted in an exciting race. Von Lengerke, however, continued to ride good and fast, and finally won by 300yds. The following is the order of the finish. mile road race over the two and a half mile stretch

The leading road event in the West, the race from Chicago to Pullman, Ill., always run on Deco-The leading road event in the West, the race from Chicago to Pullman, Ill., siways run on Decoration Day, May 30, proved as successful this year as on any former occasion. The weather was ait that anyone could wish, and the road was in capital order. The distance is sixteen miles and a half, and the start was made at 8.48 A. M., when the limit men were given the word by Starter L. W. Conking, and the others followed at intervals. The first man over the tape at the finish was M. Nelson, Columbia Club, at 9.49 §. He was a 6m. handicap man, making his running time 58 §m. The result; M. Nessel, Columbia Wheelmen, 3m. 30s. start, first, in 55m. 17s.; M. About three hundred wheelmen participated, and the crowds of spectators at the start and finish were far up in the thousands. The finish was marred by an accident that will temporarily disable George Barrett, one of the crack riders of the Chicago Club. He started from the :m. mark, and came in well among the leaders. As he neared the tape a rider cut across the track and struck Barrett's machine a side blow. Rider and wheel were thrown to the ground, and Barrett was not able to rise without aid. He was helped to the club house headquarters in the Hotel Florence. A physician found that his left foot had been injured and the tendon slightly cut. His left hip was also slightly injured. His shelf thip was also slightly injured. His helf thip was also slightly injured.

The Martin Road Race.

This event came off on Decoration Day, over a twenty-five mile course at Buffalo, N.Y. The course was dusty and there was quife a stiff wind, that interfered with the riders, notwithstanding which the competition record was beaten by William Van Wagoner, who is credited with riding the distance in Ib. 14in. 16a., which beats the performance of Charles Murphy in the Irvington-Milburn contest. The course is stated to have been carefully surveyed by a competent civil engineer, and the race officials have sworn to the correctness of the timing. The actual winner of the event, out of eighty-two striers, was W. R. Bake, R. B. C., Tonawanda, 9m. start, whose actual time was Ib. 19m. 39s.; A. B., Goebler, B. B. ## The Columbian Chess Congress

The Columbian Chess Congress.

The information several times sought is at last to hand, and we gladly condense the statements.

President Cleveland, Governor Flower and Mayor Gilroy have become patrons of the Congress, and have made liberal subscriptions.

Nearly half of the necessary $5,000 has been subscribed, but it is very desirable that the balance be promptly secured, that foreign contestants may be assured of the success of the fournament, and make their arrange ments accordingly.

$$3,000 in the contestants may be assured of the success of the fournament, and make their arrange ments accordingly.

$$4,000 in the fournament, and make their arrange ments accordingly.

$$4,000 in the fournament, and will receive an engrossed testimonial, which will give the names of all such patrons. Any subscriber of $10 or over will be assuvenir of the Congress. Any subscriber of $4 or over will be entitled to free admission to the tournament. Any subscriber of $2 or over will be entitled to have one copy of the Daily Builetin mailed to him daily. This Builetin will contain, complete, all the games played during the tournament, the pairing for the ones players. It will be printed on good paper in such a manner that at the conclusion of the tournament it may be bound as a book of the congress.

NOTICE FROM HERR LASKER.—If any corroboration of our assertion of Herr Lasker's sincerity in desiring a match with Mr. Steintit for the throne and sceptre of chess were needed, it is supplied by this note directly from the distinguished young master and aspirant. He writes: "Chess Editor N. Y. Clipper—Dear Nir. Please to note in your well reputed chess column that Chas A. Gilberg, president of the Brooklyn C. C., has at my request kindly consented to act as holder of my stake during the negotiations for a match v. Steinitz. All those who wish to support this match by backing me will please send the amount of their subscriptions to Chas. A. Gilberg, P. O. Box 2.295, New York City, who will fully and fairly represent the interests of my backers. In giving this publicity you will oblige yours truly.

King, recently released by the New York Club, goes to be Cincinnati team.

T. H. Murnane, of The Boston Globe, says: "The increased distance this season calls for speed, and it's naturally trying on the men's arms. Nichols, one of the strongest pitchers in the profession, claims that two games a week is enough for any man under the new rules, as there is no chance to let up and work slows and curves. The one great danger of putting in a slow ball on the Boston grounds is the chance for dropping even weak hits over the fences, which are much too close. The pitcher becomes afraid to work the batsman on a change of delivery for fear of seeing the ball drop just over the side fence, while the Beiders are prevented from getting the ball owing to the narrow limits of the park. With the bats how in use and the well made balls a hit over the fence on the local grounds is not much of a feat. Last season the batsmen hit more balls to the infield, and consequently the fielding was more attractive. When pitcher's could count on striking out from ten to fifteen men in a game, a lead of three or four runs was worth something, but now striking out from ten to looked on as more of an accident than good pitching, and the games are not lost until the last man is out."

Manager A. G. Doe, of the Brockton Club, of the New England League, has withdrawn all claims.

Manager A. G. Doe, of the Brockton Club, of the New England League, has withdrawn all claims to Pitcher Lincoln, and that player will therefore go back to the Fail River Club. The latter organization has consequently decided that Mains may stay in Portland. Clare has been allowed to go to Portland, it having been shown that he was promised his release by Dover. The Portland Club has been ordered to pay the Lewiston Club the $100 withheld from Lewiston on May 30, on the ground that the Portland Club in playing an ineligible player had no right to redress under the constitution.

A convincing proof of the financial prosperity of Portland Club in playing an ineligible player had no right to redress under the constitution.

A convincing proof of the financial prosperity of the twelve clubs of the National League and American Association, so far this season, is the fact that the 18½ per cent. of the home clubs' receipts formerly turned into the treasury has been reduced to 10 per cent. The new rule went into effect June 1 in all the Eastern cities. The New York Club has been paying the 18½ per cent, rate since the season opened at the Polo Grounds, but the 10 per cent, plan will be undoubtedly relished by the officials, who have enough obligations to meet outside of the League's debt resulting from the formation of the twelve club circuit. According to an official, every club in the National League and American Association has done well this year. Low salaries and smaller expenses are the causes. The following is Princeton's position with regard to the umpiring of the second Princeton-Harvard game played May 30 at Cambridge: "At the first game with Harvard, Murray, who had been selected as one of the umpires for the series, gave such general-dissatisfaction that Capt. King immediately after the game refused to allow the further employment of Murray. The protest seeningly was allowed, and some time before the second game Mullen, who unpired the games between the University of Pennsylvania and Yale, was sugested by Princeton to take the place of Murray. Harvard did not accept this suggestion, however, and Capt. King inferred that Hopkins, who had never been challenged, would umpire alone. Upon reaching Cambridge, Murray was present at the field and made preparations to act as umpire, whereupon Capt. King reiterated his former protest and refused to allow the Princeton team to play until Murray had been withdrawn."

test and refused to allow the Princeton team to play until Murray had been withdrawn."

A team of collegians from Mount Vernon, Ia., played the State University nine May 30, at lowa City, Ia. The score in the eighth inning was 8 to 3 in the visitors' favor, and then the home team refused to play longer because of the alleged partial umpiring. A crowd of boys surrounded the umpire, followed him to his hotel, and would have motbed him but for the intervention of older spectators and the professors and students.

The New York Club is rapidly regaining financial prosperity. The notes given to the players of last year's team for salaries came due on June 1, and were all paid. In all about $12,000 was handed out, and the players were more than satisfied. Ewing was among the number. The club at the end of the season owed Ewing $1,000, and he received this amount June 1. Checks were sent to Boyle and O'Rourke, and the whole debt was wiped out. Treasurer Taicott said: "We have met all the notes, and we don't owe the players a dollar now. We have done very well so far, and have great hopes for the future. I paid Buck Ewing $1,000, and I guess he was glad to get it. The club's object was to pay the players a foliar now. ### New York vs. Cleveland.

Faultless fielding enabled the Cleveland team to core a victory in the opening game of the series score a victory in the opening game of the series with the New Yorks, May 31, at the Polo Grounds, this city. Burke was ill, and this caused Ward to put Kelly behind the bat and Doyle in the outfield. Baldwin was poorly supported by Kelly, and was consequently easy to punish by the visitors, who bunched seven safe hits in the fifth and sixth innings, and, sided by passed balls, scored eight runs. McMahon took the place of Kelly in the seventh inning, and caught eleverty. The New Yorks batted Young hard, but their hits were scattered, except in the ninth inning, when they carned four runs off five safe hits, including a double bagger by Connor. Tierman took the lead in batting, his three hits including a triple bagger.

The Boston's batted out another victory June 1, when they carned nine of their fifteen runs. Merritt made four singles and Staley got in two home runs and a single off Rhines, who was hit hard and often. Browning made three of the six safe hits credited to the Louisvilles. Jennings again played finely at short stop, where he accepted no fewer than ten chances. The home team took the lead in the second inning and held it throughout.

New York vs. St. Louis.

New York vs. St. Louis.

The St. Louis team failed to make a run in the opening game of their series with the New York team June 3 at the Polo Grounds, this city. Whistler, late of the Louisville Club, then made his first appearance with the visit ors, who were also strengthened by the reappearance of Buckley behind the bat. The latter, however, was obliged to retire in the first inning, and Pietz, who took his place, hurt his hand in the fourth inning angave way to Gunson. Baidwin was in fine form, keeping the St. Louis down to two scattering scratch singles. Only two of the visitors reached third base, and their nearest approach to scoring was when one was thrown out at the plate. Breitenstein kept the New Yorks from making more than six asfe hits, two of which were by Ward, who twice scored, and two by further, who sent in two more runs. The fielding feature was Fuller's short stopping, he accepting all of eight chances.

The Chicagos scored an unexpected victory June 8, at rooklyn, it being the opening game of their series with

Yachting on the Sound.

The members of the Harlem Yacht Club were out in full force on Decoration Day, the occasion being their tenth annual regatta. Forty-three yachts their tenth annual regatta. Forty-three yachts started, and the Sound from College Point to Sands Point presented a gala day appearance. The invited guests were on the steamboat Sirius. A stiff breeze from the southeast carried the boats over the course in short order, and made all the races very exeiting. The start was unde about noon from off College Point. The yachts in classes A, B, C, D and E were started at 12.16 p. m. Their course was to Sands Point Buoy and return. Classes F, G, H, I and J were started at 12.15, their course being to Gangway Buoy and back. Classes K and L were started at 12.20 p. m. They went to the Stepping Stones Light and return. The lola was put out of the race by losing her topmast at the outer mark, the Katie Louise was disqualified for turning the wrong outer mark, and the Robert T, capsized. The yachts had a free wind out to the turning mark, at a made good time, but it was a beat back nearly an the way. Summary:

The to Manager bavis, and a pointed indication of a haft may be expected when he opens his new Wonderland next season. His efforts to please and entertain the people of Scranton have been appreciated and he is unquestionably satisfied with the financial results thus far—REPUBLICAN. Wonderland Museum closed on Saturdes.

Scranton have been appreciated, and he is un-questionably satisfied with the financial results thus far.—REPUBLICAN.
Wonderland Museum closed on Saturday evening to the best business of the past month, the place being unconsiderably changed next season. Managed that the considerably changed next season. Managed that he to the stage three times as large as the old one. Negotiations are at oresent pending for a most desirable place, with every indication of success.—TRIBLUE.

The crowds which visited Wonderland on Saturday, the closing day of the old premises, notwithstanding the heavy attraction of Barnum's great show, was a tangible proof of the esteem in which the people hold the popular show house. It is gratifying to thousands to know that Manager but is gratifying to thousands to know that Manager but is gratifying to thousands to know that Manager but is gratifying to thousands to know that Manager but is gratifying to thousands to know that Saturday are not success. The standing in the profession can be learned of sany of the hundreds of people who have played the house. It take pleasure in Announcing that on MONDAY, SEPP. 11, I shall open a theatre seating 1,000 people, with every facility for playing all attractions suitable for a first class, oppular price house, giving two shows daily. I will slow exhibit on he curious of decided mort as can put on not less than two play weekly, and anything can put on not less than two plays weekly, and anything

SIXTH SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Closed at Grand Opera House, Peoria, Ill., Saturday, May 27. 2 Solid Weeks, 16 Consecutive Performances in John S. Flaherty's town.

BIGGEST BUSINESS EVER KNOWN WITH A REPERTORY COMPANY IN PEURIA

With the performance of "Mismated," last night, Sam M. Young's Melville Company closed a highly successful two weeks' engagement at the Grand Opera House. The company is one of the best repertory companies that has visited Peorla. The plays presented were good standard dramas and comedies of a clean and wholesome nature, and the manner of their presentation was excellent in every particular. Manager Flaherty, of the Grand, is clated over the very large business done the past two weeks, and it is flattering to the merits of the company that he has rebooked the attraction for one week in the regular coming season.—PEORIA HERALD.
